M'KEAN COUNTY MOTOR CLUB FORMED AT GOOD ROADS MEETING IN SMETHPORT

EVERY BOROUGH IN THE COUNTY REPRESENTED

Every town and borough in McKean County was represented at the dinner meeting held under the auspices of the Smethport Conopus Club in the Masonic Building, Monday, November 26th.

Horace H. Redfield, president, announced the object of the meeting was to join in urging the completion of the Primary System of roads in McKean County.

A meeting of the McKean Good Roads Association was held and the name changed to McKean County Motor Club; the Bradford, Port Allegany, Eldred, Smethport and other Auto Clubs in the county will be units and through their representatives govern the McKean County Motor Club; the members of the different clubs will be members of the County organization and also of the State and American Automobile Association.

A resolution was unanimously adopted endorsing and favoring the request of our County Commissioners and representatives as presented in conference with Paul D. Wright, Secretary of the Highway Department on March 13th, for the construction of the remaining portions of the Northern Tier Route and the completion of the primary system in McKean County.

The above changes in the McKean County Good Roads Association, which was formed for and gave such valued aid in the passage of the county bond issue, places our county in position to be of greater service to the Highway Department and more beneficial to our local interests.

Potter County Motor Club was represented by Judge Heck and Messers. Jas. G. Covery and John Collins; these two clubs will work together for the completion of the Northern Tier Route which extends from Erie to Honesdale.

The speakers were Col. A. D. Burns, C. S. King, Chas. Bagley, Chas. Carey, J. T. George, S. W. Smith, E. I. Marsh, Judge Heck, A. R. Johnson, John W. Seltz, A. J. Bond and Fred D. Gallup.

A good dinner was served by caterss Lindholm.

The Miner predicts the completion of the primary system of roads in McKean County during the next two years and many of the roads of the secondary system built and improved.

The votes cast at the election on the Road Bond issue of 6761 for and 788 against will certainly be considered by the Highway Department in the allotting of roads to the different counties throughout the state; Smethport's vote was 166 for and 1 against this bond issue.

THREE PEOPLE OVERCOME BY GAS ESCAPING FROM OVEN

MRS. RAYMER, DAUGHTER AND VISITOR, VICTIMS

Mrs. Ward Raymer and daughter Harriet and Mrs. Robert Wilson were overcome by escaping gas from a defective oven Saturday afternoon about four o'clock at the Raymer home on Rose Hill Avenue.

The members of the family and their guest, Mrs. Wilson had been sitting in the front of the house and had started to go back to the kitchen to get supper, when the three people collapsed.

Louis Raymer the seventeen year old son, who was not affected telephoned Dr. W. A. Ostrander at once who responded promptly giving the necessary treatment.

At present they are much improved, though suffering slightly from the effects of the gas.

KANE AND SMETHPORT ODD FELLOWS COMPETE SMETHPORT WINNERS

The final wind-up of the competitive degree work of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows for this district of the county, was held here in the local hall on Monday night, when Kane and Smethport, competed on the first degree.

The Kane team was given the floor first, when they exemplified the mysteries of that degree on a class of six candidates of Mt. Jewett lodge.

After they had completed their work all journeyed to the basement where the usual elegant feed, prepared by the Mineola Rebekah lodge, was partaken of.

The Smethport team then was given the floor and they instructed four substitutes in the mysteries of the same degree.

The judges, F. F. Willman, Floyd Kymer and J. H. Walker after a short interval, declared, Kane having received 82½ points, while Smethport was credited with 80½ points, leaving the latter the champions of this district. The winners will at a later date, compete with the winner of the other district for the cup.

Both teams deserved much credit for the manner in which they exemplified the degree.

Inclued in the 175 present, was District Deputy Grand Mastr W. H. Punce of Kane. Several members of the different lodges present, gave interesting talks and expressed their continuance of this work.-Mt. Jewett Echo 22.

ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS MAKE RAIDS IN BRADFORD WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

Wednesday afternoon twenty-one officers including J. J. Allison, county detective, C. B. Wilson, Elisha K. Kane, 3rd., Leon Hogarth, Carl Benson, and eleven Bradford policemen, and the rest state troopers including Russell Barker and Harold Pierce of the Butler troop and S. A. Renicks as an interested spectator, armed with 11 search warrants which included Mrs. Patsy Mussalino whose husband is in jail, raided two houses owned by Tony Gero. When he heard them coming Gero threw a jug of liquor out of the window, and one of the officers seeing it coming, caught it in midair. Gero's wife was arrested for selling liquor, and he assumed the blame.

There were eight other houses raided. The liquor found consisted of eight barrels of wine, three kegs of liquor, one half dozen cases of beer and a few jugs of whiskey.

AVIATOR, CRAMER HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Parker Cramer, Clarion flier, who made several passenger carrying flights near here recently, had a thrilling flight a few days ago in which he miraculously escaped injury.

Cramer was traveling in a small scout plane, and was going at the rate of 90 miles an hour. When he came to the vicinity of Clarion(he was flying from Bradford at the time) he noticed fog arising, but did not find it troublesome until he was over Strattonville. Then he tried to make the landing field, but could not find it.

He circled over Clarion several times in hope of locating his bearings, flying low and narrowly missing hitting the roofs of several houses. But he was still unsuccessful in finding the field, so taking a big chance, he swooped down. He landed in a clump of trees on the Irwin farm near Reedsburg. Parker escaped without injury but the wings of his plane were torn off and it was otherwise damaged.

The Service Must Go On

The addition of $30,200,000 worth of new equipment to our plant in Pennsylvania in one year is a stupendous undertaking.

Switchboards, cables, wire,—the elements which make up the telephone system,—are living things, alive with conversation.

While new telephones are being connected, while switchboards are being enlarged, while wire and cables are being added, there must be no interference with the service of our 800,000 telephones already in service in Pennsylvania.

The Bell System in this state is being expanded with staggering amounts of new telephone equipment.

The plant must keep pace with the traffic, which is now 3,800,000 calls a day. It is estimated that in 1924 this volume will increase to 4,200,000 calls per day.

But there are no "growing pains"—no evidence to the user of the service that back of his telephone in the Central Offices, in the streets and along country roads, millions upon millions of dollars are being added.

R. P. HABGOOD GETS POSTOFFICE JOB

Robert P. Habgood, publisher of the Star-Record and former postmaster and member of the state General Assembly, yesterday was formally notified by Congressman Swoope that his name has been submitted to the president with a recommendation for his appointment as Bradford's next postmaster The recommendation includes both the acting and permanent appointments.

Formal action on Congressman Swoop's recommendation is only a matter of form that will be attended to at the session of Congress next month.

Mr. Habgood and Sheriff-elect L. W. Barton were the only two candidates who successfully passed the civil serice examination for the postmastership and both were certified as eligible by the Civil Service Commission. In a letter from Congressman Swoope itis announced that Mr. Habgood had the highest marks and a majority of the endorsements received of all applicants for the post.

MORNING BLAZE DAMAGES HOUSE ON ALLISON ST.

Fire of Mysterious Origin Causes Loss of $1,000 to John Covley—Adjoining Property Scorched.

At 5:45 o'clock this morning a fire of mysterious origin caused considerable damage at the home of John Covley at 19 Allison street. The blaze started on the rear porch but what started it is a mystery as no one was about at that hour.

The fire was discovered by the Covley family and Pat Scott who lives next door. The latter telephoned an alarm to the fire department which was successful in confining the fire to the back part of the structure.

The flames proceeded from the porch up the side of the house to the attic and thence on to the roof. Water caused some damage to the contents of the house, Mr. Covley's loss being estimated at $1,000 not covered by insurance. There is also considerable loss to the house which is not owned by Mr. Covley.

The heat from the fire badly scorched the side of Mr. Scott's house at 17 Allison street, causing a severe loss as the house had but recently been shingled on its entire exterior and it will have to be repainted. It is estimated that Mr. Scott has a $700 loss. He has insurance.—Star 23.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

Mrs. V. H. Oxley's Chandler sedanwhich was stolen from in front of the Church of the Ascention in Bradford Wednesday evening was found the following afternoon on the Willow Creek road, near the city reservoir. The machine was in a ditch alongside the road and badly damaged. The axle and fender were bent the bumper gone, the steering wheel bent way out of shape and many of the spokes in the wheels gone. It is believed that the car thieves struck an abutment alongside the road that caused all the trouble.—Era

MORE FUNNY HAPPENINGS IN JOHNSONBURG

A brother and sister, separated for many years, knowing each other but not knowing that they were related to one another although both resided in a community of less than 6,000, the size town in which everyone is supposed to know, or at least is given credit with knowing the business of everyone else, is an experience we often read about in newspapers, but no one it is likely ever dreamed such a thing could turn out to be true right in Johnsonburg, says the Press of that place. It is true, and strange too. Only within the last few days did two people who have lived here for many years come to know they were brother and sister.

The principals of this news story are well known people of the town They are Toby T. Schreiber of S. Market street and Mrs. Ernest Miller, of the West End. They are brother and sister and both have lived here for a number of years without the fact of their relationship being known to each other.

The fact developed a couple of weeks ago when they were at St. Marys attending the funeral of Mrs. Anna Simbeck. They discovered their relationship while in conversation about the deceased. Although they had not seen each other since they were ten years of age, the relationship was unquestionably traced, and also that of another sister, Mrs. J. O. Adams, of Erie, who was notified of the circumstances and came here at once for a visit.

The early separation of the children in their tender years resulted when they became orphans and were taken into the homes of strangers until they grew up. The children for years retained traces of the location of each other, but as is generally the case in such instances they finally became separated until the strange circumstances of the death and funeral of a relative resulted in them again being united.—Kane Rep. 24

HUNTER REAL SPORTSMAN

Refused to Make Orphans of 3 Pretty Little Cub Bears

William Garrison, of Ridgway, is a tenderhearted hunter. While out in the woods in the vicinity of Kersey, Saturday, he came across a mother bear and a cub. He took out the bird shot in the gun and placed in a ball cartridge. Just at that time two more cubs came out of the brush and went to the mother bear for protection from the intruder. Mr Garrison hesitated a moment and decided that he did not want to kill the mother bear because the cubs were small, weighing only about 30 pounds. While he was making the decision the four romped away.—Record.

HUNTER SHOT SELF IN FOOT

Reynold Larson aged 26 of Ridgway, accidently shot himself in the large toe of the right foot while hunting yesterday morning in the Boot Jack section with several friends. Larson was standing on a log and had his 12 guage shotgun cocked waiting for a rabbit. Suddenly the rotted wood gave away and Larson started to fall. The barrel of the gun struck the end of his shoe and went off sending the load of lead between the big toe and the smaller one. It was necessary to amputate the big toe at the hospital.

A SONG FOR THANKSGIVING

Sweet land of Liberty, how fitting is this hour of thanksgiving for all the blessigs we enjoy. How inspiring is the vision of your bounty under government based upon equality and temperate consideration of human rights. There is something deeper in the day than selfishly to review those betterments that personally have blessed us through the year. Rather should our thanks go forth to Him for planting in American hearts those principles of government which ensure our happiness and contentment.

We will be poor indeed if we offer only formal lip service of appreciation yet fail firmly to resolve to protect to the last ounce of our power our sacred heritage of freedom. Yes, at this Thanksgiving time, let each throat shout in clarion tones, "From every mountainside let freedom ring," and with that glorious song of inspiration let each man gird his loins to resist the insidious attacks that constantly wage way to undermine the principles of our constitution.

Our thanks for bounteous crops will be as tinkling symbols if each of us is not a constant watchman at the tower, ready to sound the alarm when sinister interests seek to undermine the tiller of the soil. Our praise for our prosperity will be but as babble if we do not resist the insidious and grasping bank assults on equal opportunity.

Americans will give their greatest thanks in action. Let us express our thanks in unselfish interest in the management of our country. The government is not a thing apart. It is not a private interprise. It does not belong to officials elected or appointed. It is the expression of the people's will. As founded it is the only successful system of government in the world. Let us give thanks a thousandfold for its existence, but let these thanks be buttressed by a determination to protect it.—Sweet Land of Liberty.—Potter Ent.

WOMEN IN POLITICS

"The idea of a woman's party is insane," says Dr. Henry Van Dyke. "It contradicts the fundamental idea on which the victory of woman suffrage was won, namely, that sex should make no difference in civil life and political privileges."

Dr. Van Dyke need not worry about the matter. Efforts to line up the women in a party of their own, along strictly feminist lines, have failed so far and seem likely to continue failing. The women are lining up very much the same as the men on political issues, though laying a little more stress on morals and the protection of women and children. Even in the matters of special interest they are not trying to "go it alone" but to influence men to their way of thinking.

The whole situation, as it has developed since the adoption of the Nineteenth Amendment, goes to show that American women are cooperating in politics with American men, to obtain what is best for all. That was the purpose of the suffrage movement.

WAKING UP THE SLEEPERS

Community workers are always much tried by the element of people called knockers, the critical folks who are always running down their home town, and making disparaging remarks whenever anyone tries to do something.

In some places humorous and appropriate cermonies have been held for "burying the hammer". Mammoth hammers have been buried in the ground as a symbol that the hammering spirit is something that hurts the community and should be done away with.

Besides knockers, there is another adverse element, who might be called, the sleepers. They are good natured, quiet people who don't do any positive harm, and lack that sharp and sometimes bitter spirit that sets the knockers going. But can they be aroused to take a great interest in community and business projects?

Business insists upon being good regardles of politics.

Let us work for better schools, better churches and better roads in McKean county.

RESPECT FOR LAW

In a democracy, of which the American republic is the highest type on the face of the earth, where the real sovereign is the citizen there is but one security for our institutions and our liberties, that is respect for and obedience to the law. An alleged democracy is a delusion, a snare and an effective incubator for anarchism. Ours is now a government by either a man or men, but is a government of law and, being that kind of government, with disrespect for and disobedience to the law, we have nothing.

GOOD AND BAD

Everyone has good and bad instincts. Life is a constant struggle to overcome the bad. But victory can be won. The reward for the good is more than worth the effort. We overheard a men say yesterday there were some lives in which good does not exist. Such is not true. There is some good in every man. If the right course is followed good instincts may be developed until they control. Sometimes people succeed in covering up the bad instincts, but they exist. Sometimes we seem to lose sight of the fact, but it is true that no man is perfect.

And we lose sight of the fact, very often, that is the most confirmed criminal there are good qualities. This being true, there is always need for the spirit of tolerance.

DOES IT PAY

Does advertising pay? Well, we should say it does! Last week a merchant of a certain town not a thousand miles from here advertised fresh dairy butter for sale. The painter made an "h" instead of a "d" and the ad read "Fresh Hairy Butter for Sale." A smart barber called u pthe grocer and offered to shave the butter at the standard price. The grocer got mad and licked the barber, breaking his nose and otherwise disfiguring him so that he was compelled to call upon a doctor who charged him a tenner for the service rendered. The next day the barber met the editor on the street and threw a brick at him giving him a close shave. In his effort to get away, the fen pusher fell down, tearing his trousers on the west side so badly that he was necessitated to buy a new pair; also his editorial shears which were in his hip pocket penetrated his anatomy so that the services of a surgeon were required. And all the result fo a little ad. Yes of course it pays to advertise.

WHAT CONGRESSMAN SWOOPE IS DOING

The Bellefonte Keystone Gazette says;

"Congressman W. I. Swoope, of Clearfield, was a pleasant caller at the Gazette office Tuesday, while in Bellefonte for a short time between trains enroute to Centre Hall, where on Tuesday evening he addressed on "A Citizens Duty," under the auspices of the P. O. S. of A., of which order he was president in 1906.

Although Congress will not be in session until the first Monday of December next, Congressman Swoope has been much occupied with matters affecting this district. During the eight months he has been in office his mail has averaged one hundred letters a day on congressional business. He employs two secretaries, and his office in Washington, 412 House Office Building, is open daily, all his constitutes are invited to call there when in Washington, as he would be glad to hear from them as to any Federal Department matters or legislation.

He has recommended the appointment of fifty afficials, of whom twenty are veterans of the World War, and fifteen are women. He has been instrumental in securing favorable consideration for 200 soldier claims before the Veterans' Bureau and a number of increased pensions for veterans of the Civil war.

From Centre Hall he went to Pittsburgh to attend a hearing of several compensation claims from this district.

POST OFFICE HINTS ON CHRISTMAS MAILING

In just one month from now Christmas will be with us. That fact is a reminder that we must do our shopping. And the postoffice authorities further remind us to do our Christmas mailing early. They want packages addressed plainly and packed strongly. It is permissable to mark parcels "Do not open until Christmas," it goes without saying that letters enclosed with parcels subject the entire package to first class or letter rate. But the department concedes the patron of the office the right to place his autograph in a gift book or to write the ordinary holiday greetings on cards enclosed with gifts.

The Postoffice Department has gone to so much trouble to make the Christmas mailing convenient that parrons in turn should help the postal authorities by doing their mailing early. This same cry went out last year, and the response of the public was so general that it was possible to handle a record-breaking amount of mail with greater expedition than at any time in the history of the service. All signs point to a still heavier business this year, and the thoughtful person will want to co-operate with the authorities for the sake of the general good.

Do your Christmas mailing early—and if possible do it at once.

MANY FATAL ACCIDENTS IN OCTOBER

State's Compensation Bureau Awarded Nearly Half Million Dollars for 207 Fatalities Last Month

Harrisburg, Nov. 21.—Two hundred seven fatal accidents were reported to the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation during October, a compilation made public by the bureau today reveals. During the same period 148 permanent disabilities and 17,232 temporary disability cases were reported.

During the month the bureau awarded $451,320 in fatal compensation cases and paid $245,820. The amount of compensation paid by the bureau in fatal cases since the inception of the act January 1, 1916, is now $14,432,803.

Compensable accidents during October cost the loss of eight legs, eight arms, 18 hands, 18 feet and 36 accidents. For the loss of legs $20,993 was awarded; for arms $20,352; hands, $33,399; feet, $21,551, and eyes, $54,967.

The largest number of fatal accidents during the month were reported from Allegany county with 21 while Luzerne was second with 19 and Lackawanna third with 17. The industries or each county are reflected in the total number of fatal accidents. In Philadelphia 13 persons were killed in industrial accidents and four in public service. In Luzerne county four persons were killed in industrial accidents, only one in public service and 14 in mines. In Lackawanna only one person was killed in industry while sixteen died as the result of mine accidents.

SUPREME COURT TO DECIDE NATURAL GAS CASE WHICH AFFECTS 2,000,000 USERS

The famous "Stepton Case" affecting more than two million users of natural gas in Pennsylvania is scheduled for rehearing before the United States Supreme Court this week.

Pennsylvania and Ohio brought the action against West Virginia, which, through an act of her legislature, tried to restrict the quantity of natural gas sent into adjoining states. Many consumers in Western Pennsylvania, including domestic and industrial users, depend entirely upon the West Virginia product.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in a bill of complaint filed with the court alleged that such prohibition of natural gas would endanger the health, comfort and convenience of those domestic users who depend upon West Virginia for fuel and light; that industrial users would suffer heavy losses and be placed at a disadvantage with West Virginia competitors who, under the present law, would have unrestricted use of the gas and, further, that domestic consumers would be subjected to great loss because they would be compelled to change their heating appliances.

Allegany, Armstrong, Beaver, Blair, Butler, Cambria, Clarion, Clearfield, Crawford, Fayette, Greene, Indiana, Jefferson, Lawrence, Mercer, McKean, Venango, Warren and Westmoreland are the counties which depend largely upon natural gas for fuel and, in some instances for light.

By a six-to-three vote the Supreme Court last June upheld the Pennsylvania contentions, and the matter came before Chief Justice Taft and his associates. Former Attorney General George C. Walter and A. Leo Weil, of Pittsburgh, have been assigned by Attorney General George W. Woodruff to appear for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The act which caused all the trouble, from an Ohio and Pennsylvania viewpoint, was passed February 12, 1919, and signed by the West Virginia Governor five days later. Both the Pennsylvania and Ohio Legislatures, then in session, passed resolutions asking for an inquiry and authorizing court action to test the validity of the act, on the ground that the law interfered with interstate commerce.

Opposing points of view brought out in the argument earlier revealed a difference of opinion on that section of the act which would forbid the exportation of natural gas from West Virginia. Pennsylvania argued as in the foregoing and West Virginia retorted that unless there were such an act the state would be unable to restrain the shipmen of all gas produced within her borders, which would leave the West Virginia citizens without fuel. West Virginia contended also that the state has such a power and that the Supreme Court in previous decisions had recognized such a power.

W. C. T. U. MEETS.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union met with Mrs. Chas. Freeman Tuesday evening, Nov. 27 Twenty three members and guests were in attendance. The business meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Lillian Gallup. Devotionals were conducted by Mrs. Martha Chadwick who read from the 14th chapter of St. John, followed by prayer and the Lords' prayer. Reports of committees was then given, showing that many sick calls had been made, also gifts of fruit jelly, post cards and sunshine baskets. Over three hundred garments had been given to the Childrens Home at Bradford; sixty dollars to the governors Law Enforcement Fund, including a donation of fifteen dollar from the Men's League.

Following the business meeting a program in charge of Mrs. Arleng Meeker on "Home" and "Mother" was rendered. Reading by Mesdames. Gallup, Daily, Lillibridge, Spanogle and Freeman with beautiful vocal selections by the Hallstrom Ladies Quartette and instrumental music by Miss Lena Southworth, a most efficient pianist.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. William Hafner and Mrs. Charles Lillibridge. All enjoyed a very pleasant and profitable evening.

Next meeting at Mrs. Martha Chadwick's, Dec. 11.

SHERIFF ROBINSON'S CAR RECOVERED.

Sheriff J. F. Robinson, whose car was taken a week ago last Saturday night in Bradford recovered the same on Tuesday. It seems that some one had evidently used the car for a joy ride, and then left it in front of Coffins garage where an employee seeing it, brought it inside thinking it had been left for repairs. NOTED VISITOR COMING

We have had Clemenceau Lloyd George, General Haller and various other celebraties with us, but they are all small fry compared with Santa Claus Each of them is important in some country, while Santa is king of the children of the world—and no other king is or ever has been his equal. He comes not to oppress nor to lay down laws, but to spread joy and made business good. It is up to you whether or not you share in the good business.

PENN STATE GIRLS BETTER STUDENTS THAN THE MEN.

Are College girls better students than college men? They are at the Pennsylvania State College, according to scholastic records for the last semester just compiled by Professor W. S. Hoffman, the college registrar. The girls are just five per cent better in their studies than the men. The average grade of the 300 women students last semester was 77, and that of the 3000 boys 72 per cent.

Members of girls' campus clubs have not only made better scholastic records than the non-club girls, but they have outdistanced men fraternity members by nine points in their general average. There are six campus clubs for women and their scholastic average is 80, while that of the fraternity men is 71. Non-club girls attained a general average of 76 and non-fraternity men average a little less than 73 per cent. The average of all students both men and women is 72.5 a mark which compares favorably with the average grade of students in other colleges.

"Girls are seldom satisfied with their marks unless they are high," says A. R. Warnock, Dean of Men at Penn State. "Most men students are content to be in the safe seventies and are inclined to reason that many other things in addition to grades enter into the making of a college education."

TABLE LINEN IMPORTANT

THE real, original and genuine Thanksgiving dinner must boast a turkey and cranberry sauce if it is to be strictly orthodox in regard to the menu. Tradition demands this. Good linen plays a very important part in the way the table will look when set. It is always advisable to buy as good linen as you can possibly afford, for it proves a wise investment in the long run.

An embroidered monogram is a handsome finish to a good cloth, but it is less noticeable there than on the napkins which for dinner should be large and square. For embroidery the long slender letters are preferred. It is a pretty sentiment at a Thanksgiving dinner to use dishes which are heirlooms for one course.

SHERIFF SALES.

BY VIRTUE of sundry writs of Fieri Facias and other writs, issued out of the Court of Common Pleas and out of the Court of Quarter Sessions of McKean County, Penna., and to me directed, I will expose at public sale at the Court House in the Borough of Smethport, McKean County, Penna. on Monday, December 10th, 1923, at one o'clock P. M.

The defendant's interests in and to that certain piece, parcel or lot of land, situate in the City of Bradford, County of McKean and State of Pennsylvania, bounded and described as follows:—

Beginning at a point in the Westerly side of River Street being the Northwest corner of lot of land sold by grantors herein to A. Miller & Son; thence Westerly along the Northerly line of said A. Miller & Son lot seventy (70) feet, more or less to the easterly bank of the East branch of the Tunungwant Creek; thence on a Northerly direction along the various courses of said creek sixteen (16) feet, more or less, to the Southerly line of North Street; thence Easterly along said North Street seventy-five (75) feet, more or less to River Street; thence Southerly along said River Street sixteen (16) feet, more or less to the place of beginning.

Improved and having thereon a two-story brick building, etc.

Seized, taken in execution and will be sold as the property of Patsy Muscalino, at the suit of the Commonwealth, now for use of County of McKean, Penna.

County Solicitor.

2.

The defendant's interests in all that certain lot or lots of land situate in the Township of Hamlin, County of McKean and State of Pennsylvania, and being in Warrant No. 2671, according to the Powell and Marsh survey, bounded and described as follows: viz:—viz:—Beginning at a post set by Alson Rogers for the eastern corner of a ten acre lot of land conveyed to Gustaf Fredell by Elizabeth D. Thanksgiving in Days of Grandmother

OUR grandmothers began preparation for Thanksgiving day long before it arrived. Pickles of all sorts, apple sauce and preserves were prepared ahead of time. Mince meat was mixed that it might ripen and acquire a more delicious flavor. All the vegetables were ready for the pot on Wednesday night; the chickens or turkey were stuffed, the puddings and pies were prepared and there was nothing to do on Thanksgiving day but cook the dinner.

Garnishes and Turkey Stuffing.

Oysters belong to Thanksgiving, according to tradition, because friendly Indians who joined the early celebrations brought gifts of shellfish. A garnish of fried oysters is tasty and appropriate to surround the turkey, or a dish of scalloped oysters may accompany the turkey, or an oyster cocktail or oyster soup may be served before the turkey, or may be molded in a thin layer of jelly, which should be cut out with a fancy cutter so that the oyster appears in the center of a tomato or aspic jelly, and is laid on tender lettuce leaves with mayonnaise placed beside it.

A cupful of chopped peanuts blended with two cupfuls of coarse bread crumbs or cracker crumbs and seasoning is a fine stuffing for the turkey.

To prepare chestnuts for a stuffing, first crush the shell, brush the nuts over with beef drippings and put in the oven for a few minutes. When heated, shell and skin are easily removed. Cut the nuts in small pieces, then add them to an ordinary bread mixture, or they may be put through a potato ricer, seasoned and used alone.

Sausage croquettes are good for a turkey garnish. Buy one pound of sausage meat, add to it one cupful of soft bread crumbs, form into balls the size of English walnuts, dip in beaten egg, roll in bread crumbs and fry in deep hot fat.

Cranberries With Turkey.

Left-over turkey, especially the white meat, may be cut in cubes and blended with enough warm cranberry jelly, not too sweet, to hold it in shape when cold.

The combination of cranberries and raisins, popularly known as mock cherry, is good for a pie filling or as a conserve. The proportion is half as many raisins as cranberries and both should be cut in halves.

Old-fashioned Cranberry Dumplings.—Prepare a cranberry sauce from one quart of cranberries, one and one-half cupfuls of water and two cupfuls of sugar. Make up a biscuit dough with two cupfuls of flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one tablespoonful of sugar and three-fourths of a cupful of milk. Shape the dough into rounds and steam them for twelve minutes. Serve with the cranberry sauce, accompanied by a hard sauce made of brown sugar and butter.

Cranberry Punch.—Cook one quart of cranberries in three cupfuls of water until soft, then press through a sieve. Add two and one-half cupfuls of sugar and the juice of two lemons, and stand on ice for about four hours to chill. Serve in glasses with maraschino cherries or candied cranberries.

Menus to Choose.

Yellow is the Thanksgiving color, just as red belongs to Christmas. A pumpkin fruit basket is effective to use as a centerpiece, and small pumpkins, or gourds, may serve as candlesticks or be shaped in basket form to be filled with nuts and raisins at each plate.

A Thanksgiving Acquaintance

By FRANK HERBERT SWEET

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

ONE year ago Charlie had come to the city to make his fortune. He was fond of farming and farm stock, but they were a slow means to wealth. He would go to the city for the fortune, and then would come back and purchase the best farm in the vicinity and have fine horses and big meadows and—envious neighbors.

Now he was standing on a street corner, with hands thrust deep down into his pockets and wearing the same clothes he had brought from home. But the clothes were soiled and worn threadbare and shiny, and the shoes were unblacked, and the hat lacking part of its brim; and long ago he had discarded such extras as collars and cuffs. The fingers of one hand played idly with his last two half dollars, both of which were owed for the poor little room he rented on one of the back streets; and the other fingers touched several pawn tickets, which he had no expectation of redeeming. Indeed, he was wondering dully if there were anything else in his trunk that could be pawned. He had had no breakfast, and there was no prospect for a dinner—and this was Thanksgiving.

There Was No Prospect for a Dinner.

A few yards away, a street boy was sitting on a drygoods box, swinging his bare feet rhythmically to the tune he was whistling. But his eyes were fixed on the listless figure of his neighbor.

"Say, Country," he called, suddenly, "what you thinkin' of?"

Charlie flushed but did not answer.

"Come, don't make an owl o' yourself," the boy went on. "There ain't nothin' in this world to fret over. Look here," swinging his legs upon the box—"no clothes to spare, an' what there is ain't much for cold weather. An' my jacket's lost an arm, an' my shirt most of one shoulder. An', furthermore," pausing to indulge in another bar of the street ditty he was whistling, "I ain't had no breakfast, an' only a cold pertater for supper last night; an' still I ain't no spilt milk to cry over." His legs swung back into space and beat a lively accompaniment to the conclusion of the tune. Then he looked at Charlie.

"Now, what's broke with you?" he demanded. "You ain't stalled, an' you got shoes on your feet."

"But I can't eat my shoes," Charlie retorted. "And the two coins I have left are to pay for my room. And—what's more, I'm out of a job. 'Twasn't much—sweeping out offices—but it meant a roof, and something to eat."

The street boy stopped drumming and looked at him with more interest.

"'Tis sort o' bad," he acknowledged. "An' you're bein' from the country an' knowin' nothin' makes it worse. What'd you come for?"

"Why, to get rich, of course," Charlie answered. "What does anyone come to the city for?"

"Huh!" derisively, "an' here I've been lookin' ahead to goin' into the country to get rich. Say, do you have fellers like me, an' like that crowd on the sidewalk, up in your country?"

Charlie looked at him, and then at the half-dozen disreputable men who were smoking in front of a billiard-room opposite, and the two or three women sorting over an ash-barrel, and the squalid, dirty-faced children playing and fighting along the gutter, and answered with an expression of disgust:

"No, indeed!"

"Thought so. Then the country's the richest and best place." He looked at Charlie a little enviously.

"Say, you got horses an' cows an' dogs an' chickens, an' a pe an' me, an' green grass an' fishin' up there?" he demanded.

"Of course," with eager recollection in his voice; "and miles and miles of woods where we go after chestnuts and grapes in the fall, and big ponds to skate on in the winter."

"An' you run away from them—for this?" snatching his fragment of a cap and hurling it into the gutter as expressive of his unutterable disgust. Then he stood upon the box and stretched himself to his full height, raising his hand as though to invoke a benediction.

"My son," he said, solemnly, "go home an' eat the fatted calf an' your ma's doughnuts. Tarry not. Haste to pastures new where the calves flourish as the green bay tree. If it be fifty miles, walk, an' run when you get tired; if a thousand, walk an' run an' beg, an' steal rides on freight trains—only go as my fallin' tears implore. An' now—" here a paper boy, attracted by his gesticulations, darted up and tipped the box so that the orator slid ingloriously into the mud. Charlie laughed in spite of himself, then his face became grave. Beneath the lightness of the speaker's words had been an undercurrent of seriousness which appealed directly to his discouragement and homesickness. Yes, he would go home.

As the street boy rose and wiped the mud from his face, Charlie stepped up to him.

"Thank you for your advice," he said. "I'm going to take it."

"Honest?" with a ring of satisfaction in his voice. "Then, face ye well, an' if forever—but say," as Charlie was starting down the sidewalk, "give me a tip to your barrel, an' mebbe I'll come out an' spend my vacation with you next summer."

Charlie laughed, and then, on a sudden impulse, he wrote his address and gave it to the boy.

Gave It to the Boy.

"We'd like first-rate to have you come," he said heartily, "and we'll try to give you a good time."

This seems the proper end for the story; but I want to add that the street boy did visit them the next summer, and that they gave him such a good time he concluded to remain and work for them permanently.

A PRAYER

We thank Thee, Father, for the care
That did not come to try us,
The burden that we did not bear,
The trouble that passed by us.
The task we did not fail to do,
The hurt we did not cherish,
The friend who did not prove untrue,
The joy that did not perish.

We thank Thee for the blinding storm
That did not loose its swelling,
And for the sudden blight of harm
That came not nigh our dwelling.
We thank Thee for the dart unsped,
The bitter word unspoken,
The grave unmade, the tear unshed,
The heart-tie still unbroken.

—Clarence E. Flynn.

A young woman called at a post office in a provincial town and inquired bashfully if there was a letter for her, says Cartoons.

"Business or love letter?" asked the clerk, jokingly.

"Business," was the blushing reply.

As no letter could be found, she took her departure, but at the door turned and came back.

"Please," she said, falteringly, "would you mind looking among the love letters?"

CITY JOINS TO RAISE LAW FUND

Saturday, Sunday and Monday Bradford people will be given an opportunity to express in a tangible manner their desire that law be enforced by contributing to the local quota of the $250,000 fund asked by Governor Pinchot to make effective the Pinchot Enforcement bill passed at the last session of the Legislature.

A committee of 24 leading business and professional men and women of the city has been formed here to be in charge of a drive for raising Bradford's quota of the fund—$3,800. Of this amount 75 per cent will be sent to the state $250,000 fund being raised through the state W. C. T. U., and 25 per cent will be used as a fund for law eforcement in McKean county. Contributions to the fund will be voluntary, the committee having decided to make no canvas or personal solicitation.

The committee is made up of William H. Dennis, chairman; John Van Tine, Fred D. Gallup, F. M. Titus, R. A. Mackie, Hon. Lewis Emery jr., Rev. David F. Hickey, A. W. Vernon, Hon. R. B. Stone, A. R. Johnson, Rev. Paul G. Miller, F. W. Wynn, G. A. Simpson, W. J. McIntosh, C. G. Dorn, Hon. W. W. Brown, Dr. D. Elva Cooper, Mrs. Clara McCray, Miss Stella Sprague, E. N. Havill, Arig M. Starling, Charles J. Deninger, S. D. Weaver, Dr. A. McAlpin, I. L. Henaman, W. C. Kalb, Mrs. Maude W. Moore, Rev. S. A. Keen, Mrs. Paul P. Lyon, Mrs. Jennie McConnell, G. W. Mansell, M. B. McDowell, P. J. Denman and L. J. Kreinson.

The committee includes men and women of all religious faiths and political beliefs. They comprise a fair representation of Bradford's citizenry which unites in this effort to fight lawlessness by providing financial means with which to combat bootlegging in the state, county and city. No partisanship or politics is involved in the movement which is a community one.

All churches in the city, the Y. M. C. A., Thompson & Wood drug store and the Hennage drug store at the East End have been chosen as agencies where contributions will be received Saturday, Sunday and Monday. All contributions should be placed in envelopes and sent to either of these agencies. At the churches envelopes may be placed in the collection plates during the services. Contributions also may be sent to Dr. A. McAlpin, treasurer for the fund at No. 18 Kennedy street.

The local quota of $3,800 has been divided as follows: Two contributions of $50 each; five contributions of $100 each; six contributions of $50 each; 10 contributions of $25 each; 25 contributions of $10 each; 200 contributions of $5 each and 1000 contributions of $1 each.

The citizens committee feels confident that the amount will be over-subscribed during the three days, basing that confidence on McKean county's expression for law enforcement at the recent elections.

Atlantic City

Splendid and pre-eminent among the great pleasure resorts of the world

Winter days at Atlantic City have a charm peculiarly their own. While the air is keen and invigorating it is tempered and softened by the beneficent influence of the Gulf Stream.

There is a preponderance of radiant sunshine—and the exhilarating salt air is filled with the elements that make for life and vigor.

The Boardwalk—with its great and gorgeous hotels—and shops—and places of amusement—is always the center of interest. There is nothing like it in all the world.

On its broad expanse—by day and by night—is an unending procession of seekers after pleasure and refreshment who have been fascinated by its distinctive character and have learned that here as nowhere else in America is to be found a veritable re-creation.

Tourist tickets at reduced fares and with attractive return limits and stop-over privileges are now on sale via Delaware River Bridge of the Pennsylvania Railroad—the only all-rail route. Requests for through Pullman reservations or any desired information are invited.

PARDON ASKED FOR KANE MAN.

Harrisburg, Nov. 26.—Pleas for clemency were made by two women before the state board of pardon yesterday. The board heard arguments on more than 40 applications for pardons and thirtytwo were submitted on briefs filed and will be considered by the board in executive sessions today.

Mrs. Katherine Santalucia, Pittsburgh, asked clemency in the the case of Rocco Carboni, convicted of murder in the second degree for killing a man in Kane, McKean county. Carboni has served more than six years of a ten year minimum sentence and pardon was asked on the ground that he has been punished sufficiently, and that he previously bore a good reputation.

CARS IN A CRASH ON THE STATE ROAD.

Earl Crouch, of Brockwayville, and Jacob Lemage, of this city, had a narrow escape from being seriously hurt on the state road, just opposite the Glatt farm house, about two miles from Kane, Saturday evening, about 6:45, when their cars met almost head-on in a collision.

Crouch was driving a new Hupmobile, while Lemage was driving a large Studebaker, and according to Lemage's statement the other driver failed to turn out in time to avoid the crash. The front of both cars were badly damaged and the cars put out of commission. Crouch, it is said practically acknowledged that he was to blame and will pay all damages. The cars were towed into the Kane garage soon after the accident for repairs.—Kane, Pa. November 26.

DREAD SAVING HABIT FORMED DURING WAR CREATES NEW PROBLEM

Washington, Nov. 26.—Needless continuation of bread saving habit formed in war times, department of agriculture officials declared in a statement issued today, is limiting America wheat consumption to the disadvantage of both producer and consumer. A return to pre-war food habits in the use of wheat by the public and the feeding of low grade wheat to livestock, department experts assert would help greatly toward solving the wheat problem.

The wide disparity between the cost of bread to the consumer and price received by the producer for the wheat from which it is made is cited by the department as atypical illustration of the disproportionate relationship which exists between the price of farm products and the price of things that have gone through a manufacturing process.

BROUGHT FROM CLEVELAND TO FACE CHARGE.

M. S. Jacobson in County Jail to Await Hearing for Larceny of Auto Here.

Bradford Star, Nov. 26.—M. S. Jacobson, of Cleveland, is langing in the county jail at Smethport, awaiting a hearing in this city, charged with larceny as bailee, of a car from Miller and Kent of this city, of whom the Cleveland man purchased the car and then left town, forgetting to pay for it.

Jacobson was taken by officers from Cleveland to Smethport on Saturday last and locked up. Requisition papers were secured by the district attorney's office for the removal of Jacobson from Ohio to this state. While the papers were being secured Jacobson was held in Cleveland.

Jacobson came to Bradford several months ago to sell vacuum cleaners and had an office on Main street for a short time. It was while he was here that he put over the automobile deal with the two Bradford men, and then left town. Mrs. Jacobson, who was here with him, it will be remembered gathered funds for the Blackman family that resided for a short time in the basement of the city building, being in destitute circumstances.

Nov. 27. A hearing was held Monday p. m. in Bradford, and Jacobson was held for $2000 bail for court, charged with larceny by bailee of an automobile.

MAN WANTED FOR ROBBERY CAPTURED

County Detective J. J. Allison has returned from Moundsville, W. Va., having in charge Jesse Dickson who was arrested in the West Virginia city on a warrant issued on a charge of robbery.

At the time of the Eldred fire two weeks ago Dickson who was employed in that town, turned suddenly missing, likewise a pocketbook belonging to John Shea of that town, which contained $75 in currency, a note for $300 and several small checks.

Supicion pointed towards Dickson and it was surmised that he had fled to West Virginia, from whence he originally came. The county authorities were notified and have been in touch with the West Virginia authorities. Dickson's downfall came as he cashed one of Mr. Shea's small checks at a Moundsville bank and it was returned to the Eldred bank against which it was issued.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT SWAMPED WITH LICENSE APPLICATIONS

A Harrisburg dispatch said that employes of the automobile division of the state highway department were nearly swamped last night in a last minute rush of applications for automobile title certificates under the act passed by the 1923 legislature. The law, which requires all motorists to obtain titles to their cars became effective today. Although thousands of applications have been sent out by the highway officials it would be some time before all motorists of the state who have sent applications can receive the certificates. No penalty will be enforced but the certificates will be issued in the order in which applications are received and no registration or 1924 licenses will be granted to any owners until titles are obtained from the department.—Kane 24.

REFUGEE MEAL FOR AMERICANS

Whole Country Asked to Adopt Orphanage Menu for Just One Sunday Dinner.

RELIEF HAS SAVED MILLION

People of All Nations Will Figuratively Gather Around Same Table as Practical Sign of Sympathy With Near East Sufferers.

How many comfortably fed, clothed and housed Americans will sit down to a Sunday dinner of rice, corn grits and soup—typical orphan fare—on December 2, as a practical test of the golden rule?

The question is asked today by Charles V. Vickrey, general secretary of Near East Relief, who is in charge of the plans for the general observance throughout the United States of "Golden Rule Sunday." In an interview, Mr. Vickrey said:

"If American people will renounce for one meal the food they are accustomed to eat, and contribute the difference in cost to the support of starving children in the near east, the situation in Greece, Armenia and Palestine will become infinitely more real to them.

"I have recently returned from several months in those countries; America is a name to conjure with there. Bitter reproaches are heard against nearly every other country, but none against us. That is because people realize that Americans have gone to them with a helping hand and a square deal, rather than with the mailed fist.

"America could well have afforded to have spent every penny of her relief funds as a long-sighted, cold-blooded business proposition. The good-will that has resulted from relief work in the near east is of incalculable value. When these orphans we are caring for today grow to manhood, they will become the leaders of their nations and their eyes will turn toward America.

"At least a million persons in the near east would not be alive today had it not been for American aid. Even today, 100,000 persons are being cared for day to day by the Near East Relief, mostly women and children who would probably perish in a few days or weeks if the work ceased.

"Our workers are now concentrating not only on the physical care of our 50,000 orphans, but on their industrial training as well. At the age of 16, when an orphan leaves our care, he is equipped to enter some useful trade or business. In Nazareth there are boys working in our carpenter shop a few feet from the spot where Christ toiled. In Macedonia, hundreds of Greek orphans are learning farming in the atmosphere where Paul spent many years in establishing the first European churches.

"Five dollars a month provides food and physical necessities for an orphan, and $100 a year provides for his education as well. The observance of Golden Rule Sunday by a million American families will provide enough funds for thousands of orphans.

"When people break bread together, they become friends. On this International Golden Rule Sunday people of all nations figuratively will gather around the same table, partaking of the same food representing the menu which the unfortunate children of the near east hope, by the benevolence of the West, to eat 365 days in the year. But even this simple menu the orphans cannot have unless the rest of the world practices the Golden Rule."

True, Indeed.

"Our vegetarian friend has been true to his principles."

"What has he done now?"

"Married a grass widow."

Compensation.

"Did Boreleigh ever repay you for that loan?"

"Amply. He has kept out of my way ever since."

An Agreement at Last.

"I hear that you and your wife are going to get a divorce."

"Yes, and it's the first time we've ever agreed on anything."
